June 2013-Present: Registered Professional Nurse
Wilmot Cancer Center: Surgical Oncology, Level II Registered Nurse

January 2013-August 2013: Wellness Educator
Encompass: Resources for Learning, Rochester, New York
My current job responsibility is to teach elementary students in the Rochester City School District ways to enjoy being healthy and well. I use an evidence based approach to inspire students to adopt healthier lifestyles for themselves and their family members. I also coordinate community service projects in which my students are able to express their gratitude to local organizations that help support children and families in need.

March 2009-March 2011: Nutrition Resource Educator
Cornell Cooperative Extension, Mt. Morris, New York
My responsibilities included oversight of a grant funded nutrition program for low-income individuals and families. I directly supervised nutrition education staff as well as formulated and submitted a $125,000 grant proposal to the State of New York for nutrition education dollars.

October 2008-March 2009: Health Teacher, Long-term Substitute
Wayne Central School District, Ontario, New York
My responsibilities were to teach high school seniors a variety of health education topics in preparation for graduation and entrance into adulthood.

September 2006-February 2008: Health Teacher, Long-term Substitute
Webster Central School District, Webster, New York

My responsibilities were to teach sixth grade through eighth grade students health education topics focusing on abstinence from unhealthy attitudes, behaviors, and choices.

August 2000-September 2006: Health Teacher

West High School, Corning-Painted Post School District, Painted Post New York

My primary responsibility was to teach secondary health education to students in grades nine through twelve. I also served as a committee member and advisor for six years.
